Gubernatorial Campaigns In Last Full Week

By The Associated Press

Most of Kentucky's Democratic gubernatorial candidates entered their last full week of pre-primary campaigning by welcoming a report that the U.S. Justice Department apparently has authorized a special grand jury probe of alleged corruption in state government.

"It was a long time coming," John Y. Brown Jr. said Sunday during a television panel appearance in Lexington. "I'm glad to see it finally."

Harvey Sloane said people he had talked with "were afraid the investigation was being delayed because of the primary election. I'm happy that's not the case and it's going forward."

Effort Made To Find Owner Of Stray Dog Who Bit 13-Year-Old

Anthony Vaughn, 13-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Vaughn, Murray Route 2, North 16th and Poor Farm Road, was bitten by a small white dog on Monday, May 14, at his home.

The dog was killed and the head was sent by a local veterinarian to the state laboratory for analysis. However, the dog's head was damaged so badly, they could not tell if it was rabid, according to the boy's mother.

Mrs. Vaughn said an effort has been made to find the owner of the stray dog to see if the dog had been vaccinated for rabies. If this information is not obtained, the youth will have to undergo a series of rabies shots beginning Tuesday.

The family stated that if the owner of the dog will call them at 759-1088 and say whether or not the dog had been vaccinated, no questions will be asked. The owner does not even have to give his name, Mrs. Vaughn said.

Cathey Trial Begins Today In McCracken County Circuit Court

The murder trial of Hal Cathey of Murray, charged with the June 7, 1978, beating and subsequent death of a Murray State University coed, was scheduled to begin today in McCracken County Circuit Court.

According to a spokesman in the office of Commonwealth Attorney Mark Bryant, the trial is expected to last more than a week because of the large number of witnesses who must testify.

Vicki McChesney, 27, a MSU senior, was found lying unconscious at the emergency room entrance of the Murray-Calloway County Hospital June 7. Mrs. McChesney, a native of Princeton, died July 23 at Western Baptist Hospital in Paducah. The McCracken County coroner attributed the death to severe head injuries received from a beating with a blunt instrument.

The trial was set for McCracken County since the victim died in that county.

A spokesman for Carroll Hubbard said the report is "what he's been saying should be done by the Justice Department since the U.S. district attorney requested it four months ago."

Hubbard earlier had charged that the Carter Administration planned to hold up any grand jury probe until after the primary and the National Governors' Association conference in July.

And Hubbard still "feels it (the probe) still will not start until after July 10," the date the governors' conference adjourns, said Kyle Hubbard, the candidate's brother and aide.

"But I think he feels that this is some progress. At least they've given the approval for it," Kyle Hubbard said.

Hubbard had claimed the alleged delay was to avoid embarrassing Gov. Julian Carroll's administration and Terry McBrayer, who has the governor's support for the Democratic nomination.

Mark McDaniel, a McBrayer spokesman, said that camp welcomed the probe as something to "clear the air."

"We've said all along that we wished they would go ahead and initiate (the probe)...because we felt it would clear the air and it would stop all of the wild allegations that are being made," McDaniel said.

"We are just sorry it was not empaneled sooner, so the air could have been cleared. If it had been, some of the candidates wouldn't have had anything to talk about," he added.

Jean Severs, press aide to Lt. Gov. Thelma Stovall, commented that Mrs. Stovall sent President Carter a telegram last week asking him to see what could be done to expedite the investigation.

Sloane, who was campaigning in Hardin County, also disclosed that he sent telegrams about a week ago to President Carter and Attorney General Griffin Bell "asking them to move on this thing."

The former Louisville mayor said there was no response from Carter or Bell but, he added: "The FBI has been on this thing for a year and there was some feeling it was being delayed for political reasons. I'm sure that nothing of any significance will occur before the primary election next week."

Sloane said two published reports that the panel would be convened at Lexington "indicates the Justice Department has made a decision that the allegations are serious enough to have a special grand jury."

The Courier-Journal in Louisville and the Frankfort State Journal, in their Sunday editions, said the Justice Department had approved the investigation.

The candidates scattered across the state Sunday as they began their last full week of campaigning before the May 29 primary.

Thompson Named Dean At West Texas State Univ.

Dr. James T. Thompson, chairman of the Murray State University department of agriculture, has been named new dean of the West Texas State University School of Agriculture.

Thompson, 34, will assume his duties on or before July 1, according to WTSU executive vice president Gail Shannon. He is replacing Dr. Charles Smallwood, who resigned July 1 to be agriculture dean at California State University in Fresno.

The year-long vacancy was filled on a temporary basis by Dr. Ron Thomason, head of the WTSU department of plant science.

Thompson has been chairman at Murray State since 1975. Before joining the Murray faculty, he held assistant and associate professor positions in the Illinois State University department of agriculture.

His bachelor of science in agriculture was obtained from Murray State, and his master's and doctoral degrees in animal science are from the University of Kentucky at Lexington.

Thompson was selected from a field of four main candidates, according to Shannon. "We felt that Dr. Thompson had the combination of qualities and experience needed to meet the challenges of our deanship," Shannon said.

"Dr. Thompson made a favorable impression during his interview on campus as a person with both energy and enthusiasm and as one who could adapt readily to the needs of West Texas State University. President Sherman and I are both genuinely pleased at Dr. Thompson's decision to join the academic administration group here at WTSU," Shannon said.

Thompson is married and has two daughters.

The Murray Independent Board of Education will consider a lengthy agenda when it meets at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, May 22, at the board office building.

The regular Thursday meeting date was changed to Tuesday in order not to conflict with Murray High School graduation ceremonies set for Thursday evening.

Items listed on the agenda include an explanation of the Comprehensive Basic Adult Education Program by Chuck Guthrie of Murray State University; a report on the Murray Area Vocational School by director Jim Lawson; a report on Head Start by director Judy Whitten; consideration of a leasing program for band instruments; consideration of the 1979-80 school calendar; consideration of an auditor for the 1978-79 accounts; consideration of liability, errors and omissions insurance coverage for all employees of the school system; consideration of the pay scale and extra work, extra pay compensation for custodians, maintenance workers and secretaries; and personnel recommendations.

Need To Fill Positions

Merge Of Army, Army Reserves Success So Far

"These men make the sacrifice," Capt. Jerry Muniz said in describing the dedication of Army reservists in Murray's Company D as community leaders and members of the local Army Reserve unit met recently with members of the press at the Reserve Center for a briefing on the Army Reserve recruiting program.

Earlier this month, County Judge-Executive Robert O. Miller proclaimed May as "Kentucky's Own 100th Division of the Army Reserve Month" and designated Friday, May 11, as media day.

The proclamation was intended to focus the public's attention on the Army Reserve, especially their recruiting program.

As part of an intensified recruiting campaign, the Reserves opened a recruiting substation in Murray. Recruiters have been assigned to the substation to assist in filling vacancies presently existing in the Murray unit. These vacancies include one administrative clerk, three tank commanders, one dining room manager, and two drill sergeants.

"It's often difficult to see the Reserve in action in a small community—it's even more difficult to visualize them as part of the Army's big picture," continued Muniz. "But there's a great deal of action that takes place in a training unit such as this one. There's also a great deal of pride involved here. This is certainly evidenced by the fact that men from this unit came out today to support the recruiting campaign without receiving any extra pay—some even lost time on their jobs. This is an act of a proven soldier."

Explaining the purpose of media day, Sgt. Charles Jordan, Reserve recruiter, said, "We need to get our recruiting program before the community. We have a quota to meet but we're not asking you to go out and fill this quota for us—we are just asking you, the people of this community, to support the program which we hope will enable us to bring this unit back to full strength. We must be prepared in case of a national emergency."

On Jan. 1, the Army and Army Reserve joined in their recruiting efforts, and the merger has been quite successful so far. However, there are positions that must be filled for the Reserves to be at an acceptable strength level. Presently, they are 72 percent of their enlistment quota but hope to attain 90 percent strength in the very near future. The Reserves is authorized to 110 percent overstrength.

The Reserve is offering monetary incentives for new enlistments. An option for a $1,500 cash bonus or $2,000 in educational assistance funds is being offered until mid-June to those who qualify.

Anyone interested in further information about Army Reserve opportunities are urged to contact a recruiter at the substation or call 442-2949 in Paducah collect.

Public Hearing To Be Held On Community Development Program

A public hearing on the Community Development Program will be held at 7 p.m. Thursday, May 31, at City Hall, according to city planner Steve Zea and Cathryn Jackson, chairman of the Citizen Advisory Committee.

The purpose of this meeting is to obtain citizen views and input on the development of the program and the proposed activities to be carried out with the Community Development funds.

Zea stated that all interested citizens and citizen groups are encouraged to attend. Those wishing further information about the meeting may call the planner's office at 753-1225.

The circulation managers, who are in charge of the delivery of newspapers to subscribers, discussed the problems created by the gasoline shortage as well as the use of mini-computers in circulation departments during their spring meeting.

Host for the meeting was Tom Winiger, circulation manager of the Winchester Sun.

Delaney and his wife, Marilyn, have one child, Teddy. They live on Glendale Road.

What kind of day will tomorrow be? To find out what the stars say, read the forecast given for your birth Sign.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) ♈
Dubious financial projects should be avoided. Expect little positive feedback from others, but travel plans are favored.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) ♉
After a disturbing encounter re joint assets, you may be in the mood for seclusion. Plan for a holiday that will suit your needs.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 20) ♊
Consider priorities. Modest social gains are not worth the effort if you neglect responsibilities in other areas. Be amenable.

CANCER (June 21 to July 22) ♋
Maintain ideals about career projects, but it may be difficult to initiate new plans now. Distractions may compete with duty.

LEO (July 23 to Aug. 22) ♌
Opposition to your ideas may be a sign that the plan as is shouldn't be finalized. Curiously enough, your intuition puts you on the right track.

VIRGO (Aug. 23 to Sept. 22) ♍
You'll get a good idea of home improvements, plans, but may have difficulty raising the necessary cash. Still, it is a good idea!

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) ♎
Surface disagreements may disguise the real problem. Use your intuition to get to the heart of the matter, especially re partnerships.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) ♏
Expect interruptions delaying the completion of work projects. Protect health and nerves. Talking things over with a close one helps.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) ♐
Entertainment plans are subject to change—possibly due to an extra work assignment. Learn to derive pleasure from your work.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 19) ♑
Talking things over is your best bet re a domestic problem. Instead of laying down the law, accent reason and be adaptable.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20 to Feb. 18) ♒
Try to maintain cool. Getting upset will only carry over into your other affairs unfavorably. Expect a busy day of communications.

PISCES (Feb. 19 to Mar. 20) ♓
Private worries and inner tensions will mount if you keep them to yourself. Let close ones into your private world. Open up.

YOU-BORN-TODAY are idealistic but somewhat nervous. Your natural skepticism makes you a born critic. Not for you a routine job. If you suppress your originality and try to fit in with the crowd, you become temperamental. You can succeed in any line that reflects your ideals and are usually found in such fields as acting, composing, music, sculpture, writing, and engineering. Your greatest success comes when you allow yourself with universal principles. Then your original turn of mind can make a contribution that benefits all mankind. Put Safety First, And You Will Last

DEAR READERS: No problems today. Instead, I am devoting my entire column to tips that could save your life.

Let's pretend you're a contestant on "Hollywood Squares," and you are asked the following question: "More people are killed every year by (a) tornadoes, (b) cyclones, (c) lightning."

If you said, "(c) lightning," you would be right.

Michael Mogil of the National Weather Service says that most deaths caused by lightning could have been avoided if only common sense had been used. But common sense is not as common as most people think it is.

Lightning occurs during thunderstorms, so the logical time to start protecting yourself is when you see the storm clouds gathering.

As a general rule, avoid high places, metal and water. If you are outdoors, seek shelter in a house or other large building. (Steer clear of sheds or small buildings in isolated areas.)

If you are on the golf course, and can't reach a building, first drop your golf club, then head for your car—assuming the car is not a convertible, it will act as a "cage" to protect you. (The metal picks up the lightning, conducts it around you and into the ground.) Stay in the car. Keep windows and doors (and sun roof) shut.

Never stand under a tall tree. If lightning strikes the tree, electricity can run down the trunk, through the roots, into the ground and into your body.

If you are riding a motorcycle, bicycle or tractor—get off. The rubber tires will NOT protect you.

If you are caught in a flat, open field, bend down and put your hands on your knees. Do not LIE down on the ground. Maintain MINIMUM contact with the ground.

If you are inside, close windows and doors. Lightning can strike through an open window.

Don't take a bath during a thunderstorm. If electricity strikes the plumbing system, it can be conducted into the tub.

Don't use the telephone unless it is absolutely necessary. Electricity can travel through the telephone wires.

If you are jogging, stop and get out of the wide open spaces or you can run into trouble. You are far safer indoors as long as the doors and windows are closed. Most deaths and injuries from lightning occur outdoors; almost half of all people killed by lightning are engaged in outdoor recreation.

Don't rely on rubber-soled shoes to protect you. Lightning can carry a jolt of up to 100 million volts. Rubber soles are insignificant as an insulator.

It's also not true that lightning never strikes twice in the same place. The conditions that attract the lightning bolt in the first place can attract it again.

Have a safe summer.

HEALTH

Abnormal cells

Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB—Four years ago I menstruated at the age of 66. Then I had an unsuccessful vaginitis treatment with Pap smears every six months.

Recently my gynecologist removed a benign fibroid tumor. After tests he remarked that most Pap smears were either black or white in reference to cancer but that mine was gray. Does the gray condition usually precede cancer? I asked my doctor if I had cancer and he said no, but that he could perform a hysterectomy to remove my fear of cancer only he didn't like to do this at my age. I'm to have a biopsy in a month and I am in a panic. I'm so worried I can't sleep. Should I request a hysterectomy at my age to relieve my anxiety?

DEAR READER—First, you did not have a normal menstruation at age 66. Even at the outside limit, women do not have menstrual periods after age 57. Bleeding in women after the menopause or in the older age group is not normal and should be cause for a woman to go immediately to see her physician for an examination.

I presume that your gynecologist meant that you had borderline changes seen in your cells on the examination. There are changes in the cells of the uterus that are not either cancer or normal. That doesn't necessarily mean that a cancer will develop, but it does mean that you need more frequent and careful follow up examinations so that any important change can be detected as early as possible. Many such women with borderline abnormal cells never develop cancer but it is true that the risk is increased. That's why the regular follow up examinations are necessary.

According to your letter you are 70 years of age and your doctor doesn't want to subject you to an unnecessary major operation. The best advice I can give you is to be satisfied with the fact that he is watching you so closely and carefully. That means that if you do develop indications that there are changes that justify having a hysterectomy that it will be done early enough so that you should have completely successful results insofar as the problem of cancer is concerned.

It's the woman who is not being properly supervised and followed regularly who gets into trouble. That's often the woman who hasn't had an examination to begin with.

There's no absolute rule that can be applied to every woman about whether she should or should not have a hysterectomy. The doctor has to consider her overall general medical condition and how much risk of cancer or other problems exist, if any, in her specific case.

The doctor is often in a bad position in such cases. If he takes out a uterus and there is no cancer, he may be accused of doing unnecessary surgery even if he prevents a woman from developing a fatal cancer. If he doesn't take it out and the borderline changes progress to cancer then he may be criticized for not acting sooner.

AZALEA BUG

The lace bug is the only serious pest of the azalea. Its presence is usually indicated if the leaves become white-spotted, whitish or thin. To fight the bugs, spraying is recommended once after blooming, once in the summer, and once in early fall, the period of worst infestation.

The refreshment table was overlaid with a white lace cloth centered with an arrangement of spring flowers. A silver coffee served was at one end of the table, while iced tea was poured from a silver pitcher at the other end. Crystal and silver appointments were used to serve sandwiches, a variety of relishes, and assorted desserts.

Red Cross Director Speaks At Volunteers' Meet Here

Approximately 30 Red Cross volunteers met at the Calloway County Public Library on Tuesday, May 15, to hear Mrs. Adella Adams, director of Community Volunteer Services for the Louisville Area Chapter of the Kentucky Division of the American Red Cross.

Mrs. Adams spoke on the purpose of the volunteer and the qualities looked for in today's Red Cross volunteers. She also showed a movie on "The History of Red Cross" with Gary Moore as narrator.

This is the first time in 12 years that a representative of the national Red Cross has made an orientation presentation to the local volunteers, according to Carole Hahn, publicity chairman for the local chapter.

Mrs. Adams discussed every aspect of volunteer work covered here including hospital; water safety; disaster; military aid including service to military families, service to military installations, and to veterans; youth program; blood program; home nursing; first aid; and CPR, Ms. Hahn said.

The national Red Cross volunteer is a native of London, England, where she was a Red Cross volunteer. She served as a gray lady in Madisonville, as both director of volunteer services at St. Joseph's Infirmary and St. Anthony's Hospital, Louisville, and has been director of volunteer services for the Louisville Area Chapter of the Kentucky Division of ARC for over five years.

Ms. Hahn in reporting on the above meeting said regarding the Red Cross blood program, that in cities where there is not a blood program, blood transfusions are very costly. She said in Murray where a blood program is in service, that any charge for the blood is for processing, for the RN who has to give the transfusion, for the doctor who has to be at the scene, and for transporting blood to locales where needed.

The Red Cross publicity chairman said blood is broken down into five different areas so one unit of blood can be used in five different ways such as for clotting, etc.

Ms. Hahn added that 1982 will be the centennial year for the American Red Cross.

LEE BOLEN

Who is he? What type line of work does he do? Where does he live?

He is a citizen of Murray and Calloway County, he is in the line of engineering and lives at 1517 Kirkwood Drive.

In checking on the above mentioned person and his record with former people who have worked with him, I find his record as follows:

In July 1975, he was placed in the position of the director of street and sanitation departments (a newly consolidated operation). Before this formation took place the sanitation department was being subsidized at an annual rate of $80,000.00, from the revenue sharing fund over and above their regular budget.

The following was accomplished by the consolidation: he reduced the operational cost by 38 percent immediately. Commercial rates were adjusted according to usage, did not have to increase household rates ($2.50 monthly present rate). Placed the residential routes on a once a week regular day pickup. Put the commercial on a night shift regular basis, these mentioning items were to insure better productivity and a greater efficiency.

The above mentioned items enabled to reduce the working staff from 28 to 19 persons. The consolidation enabled to reduce the equipment need from 8 large compactor trucks to 4 compactor trucks, giving us having 2 spares on any given shift.

The consolidation also made possible the two departments operate the city garage and kept the street and sanitation departments equipment in good repair and clean, also did work for the various departments.

Under his supervision and work of Rex Billington and his staff the worst garbage dump in the state of Ky. was changed to the number one landfill in one year and received a plaque from Governor Carroll and the department of natural resources.

City residents were not charged for dumping refuse at the city landfill (he still favors this rule strongly.)

The two departments did not have to use the $80,000.00 from the revenue sharing funds, instead the departments were totally self supporting and generated over $58,000.00 above the operating cost to purchase new equipment as the old needed to be replaced. That was a total of one year gain for the city of over $138,000.00, which should have afforded the $80,000.00 to be used for other needed purposes and the $58,000.00 to be used to make the sanitation department totally and completely self sustained, without any residential increases or landfill charges to you the residents of the city of Murray.

During the period of time that Mr. Bolen served as supervisor or sanitation and the street departments (2) large repaving programs on our city streets, continuous repairs and maintenance of the streets a continuous drainage, maintenance and reconstruction program, new curbs, gutters and sidewalks in the most blighted sections, widened radius on street intersections, parapet (wheel chair) ramps for the crippled and handicapped at every street corner downtown, new curbs and gutters along with sidewalks at our schools, widened street and improved our city schools.

Your spring and fall refuse cleanup, your spring and fall leaf cleanup, your year round city cemetery mowing and maintenance and enlargement. Your streets were swept, flushed, cleared of ice and snow and other debris, kept your street department equipment in good repair and clean.

In 1975 Mr. Bolen worked with the flood disaster inspection team which resulted in the city getting $25,000.00, of disaster moneys which was used to buy eight acres of land where the new gas warehouse and central garage are now located, to buy more property for future cemetery use and used on drainage projects.

During this period of time the department of streets and sanitation furnished labor and equipment to help construct the city-county park. Signed-Wildie H. Ellis Murray, Ky.

Will Carter Lose Face In Orient?

By FRANK CORMIER
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Will President Carter lose face by flying to the Orient next month in his Boeing 707 — Air Force One — if the accompanying press corps uses one of the newer, much larger jumbo jets?

This has been a topic of serious discussion around the White House as planners prepare for Carter's long journey to Japan and South Korea.

The press corps, which is billed by the White House for the chartered airliners it uses, normally travels abroad in two 707s. But a single wide-body jet could accommodate the entire corps.

For this and other reasons, the White House transportation office would like to switch to jumbo charters on long hauls.

But what would the Japanese think if Carter arrived in a plane dwarfed by one carrying reporters and photographers?

At the moment, the odds favor a jumbo charter for the press.

In fact, it also is likely that a jumbo will be hired to haul the press to Vienna earlier in the month for Carter's summit with Soviet President Leonid I. Brezhnev.

Although the age of the widebody is fast approaching for presidential trips abroad for the press, even a re-elected Carter would be unlikely to experience the elbow room of a jumbo Air Force One.

The present Air Force One is only six years old and represents a $10 million investment.

A jumbo successor would cost at least $40 million — not the kind of outlay the president would welcome at a time of budget stringency.

Moreover, the 707 can use many airports that are not yet equipped for jumbos.

Although the itinerary for Carter's Far East trip has not been announced, here's how the tentative planning looks:

An outbound flight via Honolulu that would put the president in Tokyo for the start of a state visit June 25. Then, after an economic summit there, a short hop to Seoul for a two-day visit to South Korea on the weekend of June 30.

Carter is expected to return via Hawaii, with a possible three-day respite there that could extend the trip to the Fourth of July holiday.

Planning A Move?

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — If you're planning to move to a new area this summer, you'll probably need some help moving your furniture and possessions.

You can do it yourself with the aid of a rental truck, or you can hire a long-distance mover to do it for you.

The latter sounds easier, but it still requires you to do a lot of work.

If you want it done right, you should be involved in the move from start to finish.

The following suggestions come from the Interstate Commerce Commission:

—Call two or three moving companies for estimates, but remember that an estimate is not binding on what you actually pay.

—Check the company's performance with friends, the local Better Business Bureau or the ICC.

—Be present when movers pack and load your possessions. If you're paying by the box, make sure they are packed efficiently, and make sure the condition of the goods is accurately described in the mover's inventory.

—Be there when the moving truck is weighed before loading, since charges are based on a given number of dollars per hundred pounds. The truck should have full fuel tanks and all dollies, pads, chains and equipment should be aboard before weighing.

—You have a right to be there when your load is weighed and the right to request a reweighing if you feel the initial one was not accurate.

Be on hand when your possessions are unloaded. If the billed weight is 25 percent greater than the estimated weight, you can have the load reweighed at no cost and must be charged the lower cost.

Do not sign the delivery sheet without checking to see if goods are damaged. Don't wait until the next day. Note any damage or loss on the receipt, and state that your approval is contingent on checking as yet unpacked boxes.

If you have trouble at some point in the process, call the company's agent or home office. If that doesn't work, call the ICC office closest to you. You may also call the ICC toll-free hotline at 800-424-9312 to register a complaint or ask a question.

Before you start the process, you might call the hotline and ask for the ICC's newsletter on moving, which contains information on past performance of the country's 20 largest moving companies; laws covering moving and damage claims, and a summary of helpful information for prospective shippers.

Agree Or Not

Crucial Days To Decide Winner

FRANKFORT — These last few crucial days will determine the winner in the hotly contested Democratic gubernatorial primary.

When State Auditor George Atkins pulled out of the race last week in favor of John Y. Brown Jr., this move sent political observers back to their drawing boards. It also sent the other four remaining serious candidates into strategy sessions.

The big question is whether a candidate can transfer his following as a package to another candidate?

While I'm not much a believer in polls, one I saw last week showed only three or four percentage points between Terry McBrayer and Brown and Carroll Hubbard who were tied for third. Harvey Sloane was second. Atkins was last in the poll. He gave his poor showing as his reason for getting out of the race in favor of Brown.

Sixteen percent of the voters were undecided. This is the crucial bloc that can decide the race as close as this one.

Many of the undecided are opportunists waiting to pick a winner in hopes of future political favors, and some who just like the idea of being able to say they voted for the winner.

You can bet the Republicans raised their eyebrows when Atkins joined forces with Brown. The Republicans had rather run against an administration-backed candidate (McBrayer) instead of Brown who is an anti-administration candidate. There seem to be more dissident Democrats out there than those supporting the administration.

The problem for Sloane, Brown, Hubbard and Mrs. Stovall is gathering the dissidents under one banner and for one candidate.

The Democrats are not divided into two strong factions such as the Combs and Chandler factions of years ago. Democrats are scattered all over the landscape, roughly as administration or anti-administration.

It appears reasonable that an anti-administration Democrat nominee would have a better chance of gathering the party back together after the primary than McBrayer would have.

Democrats outnumber Republicans roughly 2-1 in registration, although not that much division in philosophy. Many conservatives across the state are registered Democratic so they can vote in local races in predominantly Democratic areas. However, they are free to vote for the individual in November. Many of these Democrats do vote Republican in November.

For example, there are 22,625 registered Democrats and only 1,173 registered Republicans in Franklin

HEARTLINE

Heartline is a service for senior citizens. Its purpose is to answer questions and solve problems — fast. If you have a question or a problem not answered in these columns, write Heartline, 114 East Dayton Street, West Alexandria, Ohio 45381. You will receive a prompt reply, but you must include a stamped, self-addressed envelope. The most useful replies will be printed in this column.

HEARTLINE: I have an illness and my doctor has ordered some tests to be run on me at the hospital. I am not to be admitted, just be there for a few hours. My doctor needs these tests to determine what is wrong with me. I know my Medicare will pay if I am admitted to the hospital, but will it pay for this? Do I have to send a claim form for this as I do for my doctor calls? — M. G.

If you go to a hospital for diagnosis or treatment and are not admitted as a bed patient, the services you receive are called "out-patient hospital services" and these tests are covered by Medicare — as long as the doctor orders them. The hospital will take care of the claim forms and will receive payment from intermediaries, rather than from the Medicare carrier which ordinarily handles your medical insurance claims.

If you need more information on Medicare, you can now order our new 1979 edition of Heartline's guide to Medicare. To order, send $1.75 to Medicare Guidebook, 114 East Dayton St., West Alexandria, Ohio 45381.

HEARTLINE: My ex-husband and I were married for 16 years. He will start Social Security benefits this year. I am 63 years old, and I have not remarried. Is there any way that I can draw Social Security wife's benefits? — R. T.

You are now eligible for Social Security wife's benefits. Under the present Social Security law, which became effective in January 1979, a wife must have been married to her husband for 10 years to become eligible for Social Security divorced wife's benefits. Under prior law, the marriage requirement was 20 years. The only requirements for drawing divorced wife's benefits are that you be age 62 or older, were married to your ex-husband for at least 10 years and your ex-husband must either be drawing his Social Security or be deceased.

HEARTLINE: My 84-year-old husband never worked under Social Security, but is receiving Prouty benefits. Can I, as his wife, draw a portion of his Prouty benefits, and if not, can I draw on his Prouty benefits as a widow if he should pass away? — H. S.

To be eligible for Prouty benefits: a person must have been age 72 before 1968 if he had no Social Security quarters of coverage; have attained age 72 in 1968 and have three quarters of coverage; or have attained age 72 in 1969 and have six quarters of coverage.

If both husband and wife are eligible for Prouty benefits, they would get one and a half times the Prouty benefits for one between them. When the husband dies, the wife would get full Prouty benefits. If the wife is not eligible for her own Prouty benefits, however, she would not receive a benefit, either as a wife or as a widow.

HEARTLINE: I have a child who is 16 years old. The child was born out of wedlock and I have never married. His father will start drawing benefits from Social Security this year. Is my child eligible for Social Security benefits under his father's work record? — L. M.

The child's entitlement would depend on such factors as: inheritance rights in his father's estate; the father's acknowledgement of the child in writing; a court's decree that the worker was the father of the child; a court order for support of the child by the father; or any other evidence of paternity. Also, the child must be living with or be supported by the worker. Also, the particular facts concerning individual cases are all considered.

The Story Of

Calloway County

1822-1976

By Dorothy and Kerby Jennings

Copyright, 1978

Threats in the north section of the county against non-Association growers became rash acts of violence. The Ledger reported: "Brandon Hurt, who lives about a mile and a quarter of Kirksey was visited by Night Riders last Saturday night and the only tobacco barn on his farm was destroyed by fire. All telephone lines were cut about a mile out of Kirksey to prevent any communication in the neighborhood where Mr. Hurt lived. It is not known how many men composed the party of raiders. Mr. Hurt is one of the well-known citizens of the county and raised a crop of tobacco the last year and had sold and delivered it a few days before the fire occurred. He was not a member of the Association. The Ledger was informed that his name was included in the list of non-Association growers who have been warned not to deliver his tobacco. Mr. Hurt was in town Monday but had very little to say regarding the fire. He feels the loss keenly and refuses to make any statement regarding the matter." This was the first act of violence attributed to the Night Riders in Calloway County, occurring Feb. 22, 1908.

The report of the burning of the Hurt barn spread a wave of great fear over the entire county, triggering a reign of lawlessness extending over the rest of the year and through the year of 1909. For an example of the hysteria set into motion, the following letter signed by D. M., D. S., and Milus Hendricks and P. D. Daniel appeared in the columns of the Ledger:

"We wish to make an announcement to the public and especially to the Tobacco Association through the columns of the Murray Ledger. The first year the Association was organized in the county we joined the organization and sold our crops through it. The past two years we have sold our tobacco outside the Association, and our reason for doing so was one of necessity, as one of our true Association neighbors knows about. We did not think and know it to be a good thing and it has been our aim all along to again join as soon as we could do so. In the future it is our intention to sell all crops grown by us through the Association. We know how much good it has been to everybody who grows tobacco, both in and out of the Association and we endorse it and have endorsed it all along. A barn belonging to D. S. Hendricks was burned a few nights ago, but we want to say that we do not believe it was done by any genuine Association man but that it resulted from a personal feeling toward him. We ask all Association men to aid us in the protection of our homes and barns and with their aid and we will take care of the matter from any other source. This is a plain and honest statement. We believe it will be endorsed by the public of Calloway County."

Too Much, Too Early Drops Racers; Finals Tonight

By TONY WILSON

STARKVILLE, MISS. — It was a matter of too much too early, said Johnny Reagan, but Mississippi State probably wishes it would have been much more in the final stages last night.

The Bulldogs, facing elimination from the NCAA South Regional baseball tournament on their home field watched reliever Steve Susce walk Murray State's Bill Waggoner to put the tying run at second base and bring up centerfielder Tony Thweatt in the bottom of the ninth.

But Susce, a freshman righthander, struck out three to enable Mississippi State to escape with an 8-6 triumph and set up tonight's decisive game to determine the representative in the June 1 through 7 College World Series in Omaha, Neb.

Murray had advanced in the winners bracket by polishing off Tulane (5-3) and New Orleans (16-15), while the Bulldogs had a bit tougher time. They lost to New Orleans 13-11 Friday night, then rebounded to eliminate Tulane (12-4) and the Privateers (12-10) in a rematch yesterday afternoon.

A 'Bred victory last night would have given them the South regional title outright. Instead, the loss forces the 7 p.m. finale tonight at Dudy Noble Field, where the Bulldogs are 32 and 2.

The 'Breds, trailing 8-5 heading into the bottom of the final inning, mounted a rally when second baseman Doran Perdue, hit a chopper that went for an infield hit and Robin Courtney walked. After Greg Tooley fanned, Tom Fehn walked to fill the bases. First baseman Waggoner drew another pass to cut the margin to two before Thweatt's game-ending whiff.

Mississippi State sent the wild crowd of 3,325 into bedlam in the first inning by scoring five runs and knocking out 'Breds starter Mark Riggins, who lasted just one-third of an inning in suffering his first loss in five decisions this season.

"We got off to that rough start and they were able to do just what they wanted to do," said Reagan. "Our bullpen did a heck of a job though."

Righthander David Bradford, who followed Riggins on the mound forced two ground outs to end the first frame and went on to hurl six innings allowing no runs and six hits.

He exited in the seventh after banging one off the helmet of second baseman Dale Hannah, to put two runners aboard. Mike Grisehaber, who had struck out the only batter he faced in preserving the 'Breds wild triumph over New Orleans on Saturday, followed, only to give up a double down the left field line by Pete Torres for the Bulldogs' seventh run before fanning Mike Kelley to end the inning.

Mississippi State added another run in the eighth when Connor singled off Courtney's glove at third. Cliff Beuchel relieved Grisehaber and induced righthander Kocol to bounce back to the mound.

Beuchel's attempt to nail Connor at second, though, resulted in an overthrow allowing him to advance to third. Catcher John McDonald picked up the RBI without a ground out.

Shortstop Steve Sencibaugh enabled Murray to score its initial run in the first inning with some alert baserunning. He bounced into a fielder's choice, advanced a base on a walk, and scored from second when the Bulldogs attempt to double up Tooley on his bouncer was too late.

The 'Breds biggest outburst came in the second frame but it ended weakly. Designated hitter Mike Calicchio reached on an infield error, David Orem walked and Purdue singled to left to load the bases.

Sencibaugh followed by lining a double over short for two runs, but when Fehn and Courtney walked to fill the bases again, State starter Perry Clieburn whirled to pick off Sencibaugh and end the inning.

Bulldog coach Ron Polk felt that play may have shifted the momentum to his team. "Sure, it was big," said Polk, who picked up his 300th career win last night. "We needed something like that to give us a lift."

Clieburn, a gangly 6-4 junior righthander, seemed a bit overwhelmed by his ability to shut down the 'Breds on six hits during his eight inning stint. "They were just awesome against New Orleans (when Murray had 19 hits) so I felt lucky to be able to stay in as long as I did."

He held the 'Breds to just one hit from the fourth through the sixth innings but Tooley finally snapped the dry spell by lining a pitch over the wall in left field for a two run homer to put Murray within one at 7-6.

Reagan was asked to name Mississippi's advantage: the field with the fans.

"The fans are abusive, they go beyond the limits," he said, "But their field is the biggest thing going for them."

The infield, rock-hard around the plate, has produced a countless number of hits on balls that take a huge first bounce, enabling a speedy runner to easily beat any throw.

"This is a big win for us, but no one is in the driver's seat tonight," Polk said. He indicated that he would start Don Mundie, a sophomore right hander, on the mound tonight. Mundie limited Tulane to one hit in five innings in his only previous action during the tournament.

Reagan, however, wasn't as definite with his mound choice. "We're going to study the pitching charts, since we have several alternatives," he said. He indicated that Andy Rice, who tossed the complete game victory over Tulane, would be available only for short relief duty.

Murray is 28-8 while the Bulldogs now stand 46-10. Tonight's game will be broadcast over WNSB radio.

HOCKEY
WINNIPEG, Manitoba (AP) — Terry Ruskowski set up two goals by Barry Long and two by Willy Lindstrom to lead the Winnipeg Jets to a 7-3 victory over the Edmonton Oilers and their third Avco Cup — emblematic of the World Hockey Association championship.

The Jets' 4-2 series victory, which gave them their third WHA crown, officially marked the end of the league's seven-year existence. They will join the Oilers, New England Whalers and Quebec Nordiques — all original WHA franchises — in next season's expansion of the National Hockey League.

GOLF
CLIFTON, N.J. (AP) — Nancy Lopez knocked in a 10-foot birdie putt on the second extra hole of a five-way sudden death playoff to defend her title in a $100,000 LPGA tournament at the Upper Merion Golf Club.

Lopez and Mickey Wright each birdied the first extra hole, eliminating Jo Ann Washam, Hollis Stacy and Bonnie Bryant, who all managed pars. The five players finished the regulation 54 holes at 216, 3-under-par.

Lopez and Wright then moved to the 16th hole where Lopez birdied with a 10-foot putt. Wright missed her eight-foot putt for birdie as Lopez captured the $15,000 first prize.

FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) — Al Geiberger came up with a magnificent tee shot on the 18th hole that stopped two inches from the cup and led him to a stroke victory in the Colonial National Invitation Golf Tournament.

He finished with a round of 3-over-par 73 and claimed his 12th career victory with a 274 total, 6 under par.

Reagan, however, wasn't as definite with his mound choice. "We're going to study the pitching charts, since we have several alternatives," he said. He indicated that Andy Rice, who tossed the complete game victory over Tulane, would be available only for short relief duty.

Nolan Ryan's Express Leaves White Sox Limp By 4-0 Score

Nolan Ryan's express left the Chicago White Sox limp and Tommy John's local anesthetic was anything but painless to the Boston Red Sox.

In Kentucky Track Meet

The Calloway County High School girls track team placed eighth in the state track meet held last weekend in Lexington.

Regina Walker took fourth in the long jump with a leap of 15 feet 11 3/4. Teammate Mina Todd was right behind in fifth place with a jump of 15 feet 11. Todd also placed fourth in the high jump, leaping 4 feet 10.

Melissa Miller finished fourth in the 330-yard low

Sunday. Ryan, California's fireballing right-hander, blew his smoke past the White Sox for 11 strikeouts in pitching the Angels to a 4-0 victory.

John, a left-hander, only fanned five but used his sinker to record 16 ground ball outs and boost his record to 9-0 as the New York Yankees blanked the Boston Red Sox 2-0.

The mile relay time of Rose Ross, Jena Hoke, Miller and Ellen Mahan ended up third, clocking a 4:15.7.

David Stevens of Murray High School took fifth in the shot put with a throw of 47 feet 8.

The MHS 440-relay team of Jana Washer, Tammy Campbell, Starr Jones and Candy Jackson placed fourth in a time of 52.9.

Elsewhere in the American League, the Baltimore Orioles trimmed the Toronto Blue Jays 6-2, the Kansas City Royals downed the Minnesota Twins 5-1, the Texas Rangers beat the Seattle Mariners 6-4, the Oakland A's swept the Milwaukee Brewers 7-6 and 2-1 and the Cleveland Indians shaded the Detroit Tigers 9-7.

John, backed by home runs from Reggie Jackson in the fourth inning and Graig Nettles in the ninth, allowed only a bunt single by Jerry Remy in the first inning and a sliced double by Fred Lynn in the fourth and then retired 14 batters in a row until a one-out error in the ninth preceded a game-ending double play.

John matched a two-hitter by teammate Ron Guidry late last season. They are the only southpaws to blank the Red Sox in Boston's cozy Fenway Park since 1974.

"I've been lucky pitching on the right day, wet and heavy air," John said. "I'm also in a good groove. Whenever you beat the Red Sox here, you know you mainly have pitched well. I threw mainly fast balls, only a few sliders. I just tried to keep the ball down. I only made a couple of bad pitches and they didn't do any damage."

"I pitched as well as I have all season and I still got out-pitched," said loser Dennis Eckersley, who allowed only six hits.

Angels 4, White Sox 0

Like John, Ryan faced only 28 batters, one over the minimum. He allowed only singles by Chet Lemon in the first inning and Greg Pryor in the third and retired the last 20 batters. Ryan walked only one batter — Alan Bannister in the second — for just the seventh time in his career in pitching his 14th career two-hitter and 40th shutout.

"I felt I was in the best groove I've had all year," said Ryan, 5-2, who has hurled a record-tying four no-hitters but has never pitched a complete game in which he hasn't walked anyone. "I had better velocity on the fast ball than I've had."

Ryan has struck out 10 or more batters in a game 122 times, extending his own major league record.

Orioles 6, Blue Jays 2

Dennis Martinez fired a fourhitter and Lee May drove in two runs, one with a solo homer. Martinez, 6-2, retired 19 consecutive batters after Toronto scored in the second and third innings. May put Baltimore in the lead 3-2 with his ninth home run in the sixth inning. Ken Singleton also drove in two runs with a bases-loaded walk and a double.

Royals 5, Twins 1

Darrell Porter and Pete LaCock hit consecutive triples when Minnesota's outfield defense collapsed and Kansas City scored two runs with the help of shortstop Roy Smalley's throwing error while Paul Splittorff checked the Twins on nine hits.

In the fourth inning, center fielder Willie Norwood lost Porter's fly ball in the sun. LaCock, the next batter, was given a triple when Norwood and left fielder Ken Landreaux collided and let his fly ball drop between them. George Brett drove in two Kansas City runs with a single and homer.

Delp Hopes Cordero Has Learned From Preakness

BALTIMORE (AP) —

Trainer Bud Delp realizes the Preakness Stakes was another learning experience for jockey Ron Franklin. But he hopes it was for veteran Angel Cordero Jr., too.

Delp's colt, Spectacular Bid, romped to a 5 1/2 length victory under Franklin Saturday in the richest of 104 Preaknesses, but Cordero's controversial ride aboard Screen King, the thirdplace finisher, fueled anew the Franklin-Cordero — the kid vs. the veteran — rivalry.

"I hope Mr. Cordero realizes this game is for everybody to play, not just a select few," Delp said Sunday. "I hope he's been shown the light a little bit and realizes Franklin is a race rider just like him."

The 19-year-old Franklin called Cordero's alleged effort to force him wide on the first turn unsportsmanlike. Delp said: "It was a childish act. He was jeopardizing the race. But Ronnie took care of that. He was worried about what Ronnie was doing instead of just riding his own race."

Several times Cordero attempted to force Franklin into the rail during the race, Delp said.

Flying Paster and General Assembly set the early pace, with Screen King third and Spectacular Bid fourth. With about three-eighths of a mile to go in the 13 1/2 mile test, Spectacular Bid had this second leg of thoroughbred racing's Triple Crown won, giving him a solid chance at becoming the 12th horse in history to capture the Kentucky Derby, Preakness and Belmont Stakes.

Golden Act, the longest shot in the field of five at 27-1, finished second with Screen King, who cut off Flying Paster at the top of the stretch, third, another four lengths back and 1 1/2 lengths in front of Flying Paster General Assembly faded to last.

Bullets Win Opener By 2

Dandridge Nods, Sonics Sleep

LANDOVER, Md. (AP) — Bobby Dandridge of the Washington Bullets nodded, but it was the Seattle SuperSonics who went to sleep.

As he prepared to make an inbound pass with two seconds remaining in the opener of the National Basketball Association championship series Sunday, Dandridge made an almost imperceptible motion with his head.

But Larry Wright picked up the subtle signal, drove the lane for a bounce pass from Dandridge, and was fouled by Dennis Johnson on a layup attempt as time expired.

posite way and came down the lane.

"Wright just beat me," said Gus Williams, who scored 32 points for the SuperSonics and had blocked another Wright attempt when Washington brought the ball inbounds with five seconds left.

The Bullets, trying to become the first repeat champions of the NBA in 10 years, had three chances to win after Dennis Johnson rebounded a John Johnson shot and tied the score with 25 seconds left. Wright, who came off the bench to score 26 points, missed his first free throw but sank the next two, giving Washington a 99-97 victory and a 1-0 lead in the best-of-seven series which resumes here Thursday night.

"Bobby motioned that the lane was open," Wright said. "I gave a head fake the op-seconds left.

After Tom Henderson missed and Seattle's Lonnie Shelton fumbled the ball out of bounds, the Bullets intended to set a double screen for Dandridge, their clutch performer who had 23 points.

But Dennis Johnson switched to foil the strategy and after Wright's hurried shot was tipped by Williams, Seattle's Jack Sikma knocked the ball out of bounds.

This time, Dandridge tossed the ball inbounds, a move which may have confused the SuperSonics.

Dennis Johnson, guarding Kevin Grevey, moved to block the lane when Wright broke free and didn't agree with the call by official Ed Rush.

"I thought I blocked the shot," Johnson said, "but with all the noise, I couldn't hear a whistle. I thought we were going into overtime."

The SuperSonics, who won the opener of last year's seven-game series with Washington after trailing by 19 points, almost equaled that miracle comeback.

Trailing 91-73 early in the fourth quarter, Seattle reeled off two 10-point strings — with Williams scoring six during each streak — and forged the tie when Dennis Johnson scored his 23rd point.

The SuperSonics picked up 23 points on 20 Washington turnovers, several while using a press in the closing minutes. But Seattle was out rebounded 55-41 and hit only 11 of 23 free throws.

Lopez Wins Playoff

CLIFTON, N.J. (AP) — Mickey Wright, the veteran whose name was once synonymous with the LPGA tour, Nancy Lopez, the current 22-year-old phenom. The two going head-to-head in a sudden death playoff.

"I never considered her a hero, but I admired her greatly," Lopez said after she captured her fourth victory of the year the hard way, by surviving a five-way playoff, which included the veteran Wright, in the $100,000 LPGA event at the Upper Montclair Country Club.

Lopez, Wright, Hollis Stacy, virtual unknown Bonnie Bryant and Jo Ann Washam were tied at 3-under-par 216 after the regulation 54 holes.

Wright, 44, hasn't played regularly on the tour in close to a decade, but her past achievements speak quite loudly. She holds the record with 82 career victories, including 13 in 1963, a mark Lopez made a run at last year with nine triumphs.

Now Not The Time To Worry About Losses, Phils' Ozark Says

By BRUCE LOWITT
AP Sports Writer

It's a long, long time from May to September and, according to Danny Ozark, now is not the time to worry.

"I don't think losing one game or three games out of 162 is going to have an effect on professionals," the Philadelphia manager said Sunday after Montreal ripped the Phillies 10-6 to complete a three-game sweep of the National League East's three-time champions.

"If this were September, it might have some effect," Ozark added.

Still, it had the double effect of shaving the Phils' division lead to one game and of making the upstart Expos believe in themselves a bit more.

In Sunday's other NL games, Los Angeles beat Cincinnati 6-4, New York nipped St. Louis 8-7 in 11 innings, San Francisco routed Atlanta 8-1, Pittsburgh defeated Chicago 6-5 and Houston swept a doubleheader from San Diego 1-0 and 6-3.

"This has to lift the team up. Taking three games from the team in first place is enough to give anybody a lift, and especially the way we did it," said Gary Carter of the Expos. Montreal had needed lifting, taking a five-game losing streak into Philadelphia.

They Expos turned it around with three come-from-behind victories and with some solid relief pitching. "We had three starters knocked out, and each time our bullpen pulled us out. It's something we didn't have before."

It was something the Phillies didn't have Sunday. They took a 6-5 lead into the seventh inning, then Phils starter Nino Espinosa walked Carter and Ellis Valentine. Ron Reed came out of the bullpen and, after fanning Larry Parrish for the second out, gave up Jim Mason's RBI single, a bases-loading walk to Jerry White and Andre Dawson's two-run single.

Montreal nicked Reed for two more runs in the eighth. Warren Cromartie, who had homered in the fifth inning, tripled and scored on Carter's sacrifice fly, then Tony Solaita and Valentine singled and Parrish doubled.

Dodgers 6, Reds 4
Don Sutton gave up a three-run homer in the bottom of the eighth that pulled Cincinnati into a tie, but he was still the pitcher of record when Von Joshua led off the ninth with a homer that made Los Angeles a winner.

And that made Sutton the Dodgers' winningest pitcher ever. His fifth victory of the year was the 210th of his career, one more than Don Drysdale — and when the telephone rang in the Dodger clubhouse, Sutton figured out who the caller was.

"When they said there was a phone call, I almost expected it was Big D," he said. "I didn't think it was Jimmy Carter; seeing as how I'm a Republican ... To be able to pass Don is more than I'm really ready to figure out right now. It's something really special for me."

Mets 8, Cardinals 7
Richie Hebner had a two-run double in the first inning and a three-run homer in the 10th to keep New York in the game, then Frank Taveras belted a bases-loaded single in the 11th inning over St. Louis' drawn-in outfield for the victory.

"You can't figure this game out," said Hebner, who hadn't hit a homer since Opening Day. "One time you'll go 0-for-20, then you'll go 10-for-20. What's great about baseball is you play every day, so that if you're a bum yesterday, you can be a hero today."

Giants 8, Braves 1
Bob Knepper stifled Atlanta on three hits while Bill Madlock drove in three San Francisco runs with a homer and a single.

Field Set (Maybe) At Indy 500

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — With a final flurry of bumping and protesting, the field is set — maybe — for Sunday's 63rd Indianapolis 500, which may become known as the most confusing spectacle in auto racing.

The last weekend of time trials produced excitement, when a record 11 cars were bumped from the field by faster competitors; controversy, when a cheating scandal spread through Gasoline Alley involving new power restrictions; and anger, when four qualification runs were disallowed for rules infractions.

At day's end, the race billed as the world's richest purse also faced the prospect of being the world's most litigated.

Seven protests were filed, mostly against a last-day rules change on power restrictions, and one driver threatened court action to throw the whole lineup out and start over again with less than a week until race day. All that came just two weeks after the rival Championship Auto Racing Teams, representing most of the sport's big names, went to court to overcome the sanctioning U.S. Auto Club's rejection of 19 entries.

Lost in the confusion was the fact that the 33-car starting grid as finally completed is the most competitive in years, with an average speed of 186.771 mph, 24 cars between 184 and 186, and less than 10 mph separating the fastest and the slowest. It has just one first-time starter, veteran road racer Howdy Holmes, and five former winners, including fourtime champion A.J. Foyt, three-time winner

Al Unser, and Bobby Unser, Johnny Rutherford and Gordon Johncock.

It doesn't necessarily have the 33 fastest cars since rookie Bill Alsup was thrown out of the race after it was discovered that the Penske-Cosworth he qualified at more than 187 mph had the engine used by Bobby Unser a week ago. Since Unser qualified with it, that is illegal.

Alsup's car owner, Roger Penske said the engine mixup was unintentional. He protested that the penalty was too severe, said it wasn't covered in the rules and asked that Alsup be given a chance to qualify with another engine.

USAC scheduled hearings today on that and the other six protests, all involving the cheating scandal and USAC's belated attempts to deal with it.

Geiberger Holds On At Colonial

FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) — It was a grand scheme, and Al Geiberger dreamed of it often. The final hole of the U.S. Open. He would lash a long iron to within an inch of the cup.

There would be cheers and champagne and a tap-in and a bunch of money.

Well, it wasn't the Open, or the last hole, or even a cinch. But he did what he dreamed of. And it won him the $300,000 Colonial Invitation golf title.

With his 4-shot lead eroded, his confidence in shambles and the wolves at his heels, the lanky, affable Californian slapped a 5-iron 2 inches shy of a hole-in-one on the par-3 16th hole.

It netted him a birdie, restored his confidence and propelled him to a one-shot victory in a typically traumatic final round. It left Don January, with a 65, and Gene Littler, with a 68, frustrated runners-up.

"I hadn't done anything sensational all day," Geiberger concluded after firing a closing 3-over-par 73. "I had a few doubts... All of a sudden I hit an iron like that."

"It gave me a lift. With 2 more holes to go, I thought, 'I can go to work and try to win this.' It seemed like a new ball game all over again."

Geiberger snaked in a 7-foot par putt on No. 17 and recorded a safe bogey at the 18th to close out with a 72-hole total of 274 and his first victory since 1977.

It was worth $54,000 which, he dead-panned, "will go good with the $5,000 that I won so far this year."

Tom Watson, with a foot in the grave, dipped to 5-under through 10 holes. With four straight birdies, the tour's leading money winner appeared almost certain to challenge for his fourth triumph of the year. But a double bogey at the 12th torpedoed that possibility and Watson's 3-under-par 67 left him tied with Jim Colbert for fourth.

Colbert and Watson earned $13,200, precisely one half of what Littler and January got as runners-up. Colbert slipped home with a 69.

First and second round leader Leonard Thompson slumped to a 2-over-par 72 and tied Masters champion Fuzzy Zoeller at 278, a shot ahead of Wayne Levi, Ed Sneed, Bruce Lietzke, Jack Renner and Lindy Miller.

Geiberger, one of the tour's 20 millionaires, embarked on the final round with a 4-shot lead over Barry Jaeckel and was five shots ahead of Thompson.

Both challengers collapsed. Littler and January shot threatening 4-under-par 31 on the front side, leap-frogging into contention. But neither could master the tricky cross winds to maintain a charge.

Exaggerating just slightly, Geiberger called it a victory for the old folks. January is 49 and Littler 48, and, at 41, Geiberger is at least seasoned if not spicy.

And so it wasn't the Open. But it was just like Al envisioned. "All of a sudden, I hit an iron like I did today at No. 16... That's the feeling I had ... Great ... I couldn't miss."

Short Calving Season Ups Profits

Six People Make Profit On Calf

If getting young cows bred back on schedule after calving is no problem in your herd, you probably haven't heard about the profit-boosting benefits from a short calving season and calving heifers as two-year olds.

Or you're doing a good job of feeding and already using a relatively new approach to the problem—suckling management.

"That's the reinforcement needed in managing most cow herds to strengthen the weakest link in the calf production chain," says Duane Miksch, Extension veterinarian in the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture.

First-calf heifers tend to be late returning to a fertile estrus or heat period after calving and, to a lesser degree, second-calf cows have the same problem. To stay on schedule of calving by the same date the following year, a cow must become pregnant 80 to 85 days after having her calf.

The problem, according to Miksch, can be caused by feeding too little energy to the cow and by the calf's suckling stimulus affecting the cow's reproductive system. They are the primary contributing factors that you can do something about in managing your herd.

Suckling management can help solve the rebreeding problem because nursing a calf delays the onset of a cow's estrous cycle, says Miksch. You have three options to get cows back in heat sooner after calving: (1) early weaning, (2) letting the calf nurse only once a day during the breeding season or (3) removing the calf for 48 hours.

Miksch explains that milk producing requires energy, leaving less for the cow's reproductive functions, but that the effect of the suckling stimulus, itself, probably is more important.

"Milked cows return to estrus sooner after calving than suckled cows producing less milk," says Miksch, adding that "there is a direct relationship between the intensity of suckling stimulus and the interval from calving to first estrus."

This means that the oftener a calf nurses and the more vigorously it goes about it, the longer it will take a cow to come back in heat after calving.

Of the three suckling management options, temporary weaning looks like the most practical for Kentucky cow-calf producers. But Miksch says research shows that all of them will work.

In temporary weaning trials in Texas, calves 45 days or older were removed from cows for 48 hours at the start of the breeding period. This stimulated cows to cycle, resulting in 62 percent bred and 44 percent pregnant in 21 days, compared with only 31 percent bred and 17 percent pregnant when calves were left on the cows. The 48-hour temporary weaning had no ill effects on the calves or cows, says Miksch.

Once-a-day suckling produced similar results. Calves were penned separately at 30 days of age, and their mothers were turned in once a day until they were bred.

With calves nursing only once a day the cows came into heat within 69 days after calving. It took an average of 116 days for cows nursing calves normally. Half of the cows suckled normally did not come in heat until their calves were weaned. Weaning weights were the same for both groups of cows.

If you try once-a-day suckling Miksch suggests penning calves separately at about the beginning of your breeding period and returning them to their mothers six weeks later.

Early weaning increased conception in a 42-day breeding period by 25.9 percent in 2-year-old cows, 15.6 percent in 3-year-olds and 7.9 percent in mature cows up to 11 years old in USDA trials at the Meat Animal Research Center in Nebraska. Calves were weaned 8 days before the starting of the breeding season at an average age of 55 days, with weaning age ranging from 34 to 76 days.

Actual conception rates in the early-weaning research were 71.4 percent for 2-year-old cows, 76 percent for 3-year-olds and 70.6 percent for mature cows; compared with 45.5 percent, 60.4 percent and 62.7 percent for same-age cows nursing calves.

Research in a number of states has demonstrated that calves can be weaned successfully at 6 to 8 weeks of age, resulting in a higher pregnancy rate among nutritionally-stressed cows, according to Miksch. But he points out that increased labor and the high cost of feed formulated for young calves should be considered before going to an early-weaning program.

Insufficient energy intake by cows, a contributing factor in the rebreeding problem, can be corrected in three ways, according to Miksch: (1) Feeding heifers better, so they develop to near-mature size before calving at 2 years of age, (2) feeding young cows separately from mature cows and (3) feeding additional grain to young cows.

"Young cows do not require more energy for maintenance than mature cows of the same size," says Miksch, "but they have more difficulty consuming enough energy to satisfy their requirements."

He explains that young cows may not have the rumen capacity to get enough energy from pasture or a high-roughage ration and, if run with older cows, they lack the size to compete for their share of the feed.

By TENA ANDERSEN
Associated Press Writer
CHAMBERLAIN, S.D. (AP) — Half a dozen people will try to make a profit on a baby calf in its 18-month life, from birth to the supermarket meat counter.

A full-grown steer provides meat and by-products valued at about $1,150, out of which must come the costs of feeding, transporting and processing it — along with hoped-for profit at each step.

The president of one large meat packing company claims he is losing money on beef, and supermarkets say they are only breaking even on it.

But these are prosperous days for the rancher.

"I would not apologize for the price of meat," said Bob Healey, a Chamberlain rancher. "Cattle are just getting to the level where they should be. Ranchers have to have profit incentive or we'll just say to hell with it."

Many ranchers called it quits five years ago when prices were low. Drought in the next three years decimated feed supplies and more ranchers sold off their herds. The U.S. Department of Agriculture estimates beef supplies will be far below demand for at least two years.

But ranchers make the most money these days on a calf, investing about $360 until the day it leaves its mother's side. At prices earlier this week, they stand to make about $80 a head at that stage.

Here are Healey's costs to raise one weaned calf: Yearly taxes, interest and depreciation on one cow, $99.52; feed, $193.00; breeding and veterinary services $22.00; marketing and transportation $10.00; buildings and equipment, $10.95; and $25 for his labor at $5 an hour for a total of $360.47.

"I'd need 81 cents a pound for a 440-pound calf to break even — figuring a 100 percent calf crop. And you can't count on every cow having a calf or all of them living," he said. On Monday, calves sold for about $1 a pound.

Healey's calf sells for $440 to another rancher who spends $80 to raise the animal to 650 pounds. And he can sell it to a feedlot for $559, turning a $39 profit.

The feeder spends $147 fattening the steer to 1,000-pound market weight and sells it for about $715, making $9 a head.

Jim Woster of the Sioux Falls Stockyards, the nation's third-largest livestock market, said the high beef demand is profitable for the rancher but low supply hurts the processor.

"Feeders want to point the finger at the packer and say, 'Boyl, they're really raking it in,'" Woster said. "But really, they're losing money on cattle kills to the point that some of them are closing down."

John Morrell and Co., one of the five largest meat packers in the nation, has no plans to close down. But its president, Donald Slotkin, said the cattle operation is losing money.

"The farmer is making a lot of money on his cattle right now with low prices for feed grain and record high prices for cattle. But at the time we need the cattle the most to meet consumer demand, they're holding cattle back for breeding," Slotkin said.

Morrell's kills cattle at 10 of its 17 plants nationwide with the slaughter rate down 60 percent in recent weeks.

"We don't project ourselves as a friend of the farmer or of the consumer. We don't like to see these high prices either. It gets to the point where people won't buy beef anymore," Slotkin said.

Neither Slotkin — nor retail grocers — would discuss precise details of their operations, but this is the way it works out generally.

On Monday, Morrell's could buy Healey's 1,000-pound steer in Sioux Falls for $715. Only about 600 pounds of edible meat is left after slaughter and that sells wholesale for about $1.12 a pound or $672.

Morrell's also sells the waste products — blood, bone, hide, organs — for about $113 for each 1,000-pound animal.

That leaves the packer a slim $70 to pay for labor and equipment and to turn a profit.

Transportation increases the cost to $1.14 a pound by the time the 600-pound carcass reaches a Midwestern grocery store. It costs another 2 cents a pound to truck the meat to either coast.

Gary Wasson, meat manager at a Hinky Dinky supermarket in Sioux Falls, said about 30 percent of the carcass is useless.

"We trim off the fat and bone and sell it to a rendering company for 3 cents a pound," he said. That nets the store $4.50 an animal.

Healey's steer is now 450 pounds of meat and — after accounting for what's trimmed away — each pound is worth $1.51. Wasson said the average price for all beef cuts under cellophane, often represented by the price of round steak, has been about $2.30 a pound.

That gives the grocery store 79 cents a pound to cover costs and make a profit.

In my opinion, garden books rank near the top in reading matter. I have long read this type of literature both for pleasure and for profit and among my favorite authors is one Thomas Hyll, who long ago published an obscure little volume on "How to Dress, Sow, and Set a Garden."

Hyll, or Hill, was an Englishman. He published his book in 1563 during the reign of Queen Elizabeth when the study of botany and medicine went hand in hand, and when both disciplines were still fraught with superstition and witchcraft.

In this book, which can now be found only in museums or rare book collections, the author mixed fact with fancy and drew heavily upon such ancient agricultural writers as Pliny, Cato, Varro, Frontinus and other bucolic scribes who held forth during the first and second centuries before and after Christ.

A substantial part of this old book was devoted to instructions for the planting and cultivation of several varieties of herbs and vegetables. Planting by the signs of the Zodiac and phases of the moon were also recommended.

"Whatsoever you sow," wrote Hyll, "sow it when the moon increases for it oftentimes happens that sowing in the decrease or wane of the moon it prospers not. And such things that you will cut down or gather, let it be done in the wane of the moon. It oftentimes happens that although the seeds are perfect for food, they spring not after their sowing through some malice of the celestial bodies."

Atkins Challenges Detractors To Prove Sellout Allegations

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — State Auditor George Atkins, challenging his detractors to prove their allegations of "sellout," was expected to file his gubernatorial expense report today with the state Registry of Election Finance.

"(The report) is proof that Gov. Julian Carroll and Terry McBrayer are telling outright lies when they claim John Y. Brown Jr. is paying off $100,000 of my campaign debts," Atkins said Saturday.

Atkins, who withdrew from the primary last week to support Brown, challenged Carroll and McBrayer to produce documentary evidence of their allegation.

"I welcome your scrutiny of this report," Atkins told a press conference. "I don't think the Carroll administration and the McBrayer campaign can withstand the same scrutiny."

He said the report showed his campaign had raised $455,000 and, as of May 13, owed $21,483.

Atkins said, however, that the amount owed was covered by a $30,000 refund from media advertising that was cancelled after he quit the campaign.

The state auditor said that McBrayer, who has the governor's support for the nomination, "can't explain the thousands of dollars of personal service contracts that his law firm has received from the state."

"McBrayer can't explain his deal with utility companies and the hoax he is perpetuating on the consumers of Kentucky," Atkins added.

He charged that state government, state employees and state equipment have been used to promote McBrayer's campaign and said "it's time for the people of Kentucky to demand that Julian and Terry tell the truth."

Atkins also claimed that an examination of McBrayer's finance reports "shows they've sold state government and on May 29, I predict the voters of Kentucky will reject the sale."

Stained Glass

Windows Stolen

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — When the Rev. James E. Sanders went to the Greater Grace Temple Church Sunday to prepare for the morning service, he found 16 stained-glass windows missing.

"I just stood there in amazement," said Sanders. Sanders, 68, said the windows were valued at $5,400 when the congregation bought the church, but it would cost $12,800 to replace them.

"Why, the windows are more expensive than the church," he said.

"I don't know what we are going to do, because we do not have any insurance at all. We just bought the building three years ago and are a very small congregation."

The church has 25 members.

Ten Die In Weekend Wrecks

By The Associated Press

Ten persons died in weekend traffic accidents on Kentucky highways, according to state police, raising the state's toll for the year to 294. Through the same date a year ago, 235 fatalities had been recorded.

No traffic deaths were reported Sunday.

A single-car crash Saturday on Kentucky 1320 in Warren County killed two Bowling Green women. State police identified the victims as Diana Pippin, 22, and Teresa Parrish, 21.

Bishop Jarvis, 74, of Tompkinsville, died Saturday in a two-car crash 11 miles from his hometown on the Kessler Ridge Road, police said.

Another single-car crash Saturday took the life of Willard Wright, 44, of Campbellsville. State police said the accident occurred on Kentucky 1174, 16.2 miles west of Campbellsville.

A teen-ager was killed Saturday morning in downtown Lexington. Police said 19-year-old John Truitt of Versailles was injured fatally in a collision between a truck and an auto on U.S. 25.

Archie Hatton, 70, of Owenton, was killed Saturday morning in a two-car collision on Kentucky 22 about 2.5 miles west of Owenton.

William McQueen, 25, of Bedford, and Joel Kidwell, 26, of La Grange, were killed when their vehicle ran off U.S. 42 less than a mile west of Carrollton Friday night and struck a tree and several mailboxes, state police said.

John Young, 37, of Lexington, and his sister, 44-year-old Dorothy Young of Lexington, were killed and two other persons were injured in a two-car collision Friday on U.S. 27 about 11 miles north of Lancaster, police said.

Brown To Release Personal Finances Summary

By SY RAMSEY
Associated Press Writer
LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — Democratic gubernatorial candidate John Y. Brown Jr. says he soon will release a summary of his personal finances.

The millionaire contender has been criticized by rivals for failing to make public his income tax returns as all other major candidates have done. Brown said during a televised panel on the WLEX "Your Government" series Sunday that he does not know if he will release his income tax returns "because it would take people two weeks to understand it." Brown, who scheduled a press conference at Louisville today to discuss an undisclosed topic, declined to make an estimate of his net worth, which has been estimated variously at from $25 million to $225 million, and declared that would be an intrusion of his privacy.

"I have nothing to hide," Brown said. "...My record with the IRS is so clean it's boring."

Brown also scoffed at reports that many of his top supporters are gamblers and said that the accusations of his gambling background, leveled especially by administration-endorsed Terry McBrayer, are distortions or falsehoods.

Commenting on reports Sunday that a special federal grand jury will be convened at Lexington to look into allegations of corruption in state government, Brown said "it was a long time coming...I'm glad to see it finally."

He also noted that Mike Molloy, the brother of U.S. Attorney Pat Molloy, is an active supporter of McBrayer.

Brown again denied any financial arrangement with state Auditor George Atkins, who withdrew from the race last Thursday and threw his support to Brown.

Brown said he is surprised "that the news media hasn't been more responsible in requiring facts" from Gov. Julian Carroll and McBrayer about their allegation that Atkins was promised $100,000 by Brown.

There was no financial consideration whatever,

Brown said, and the negotiations with Atkins began about 10 days ago during a televised gubernatorial panel on Kentucky Educational Television when the two men sat side by side and chatted.

Brown said he is not negotiating with Lt. Gov. Thelma Stovall and has "no reason to believe (she) will drop out" before the May 29 primary. Reiterating his claim to being in the lead and gathering momentum, Brown said he believes McBrayer is the runnerup — "it's our campaign against the administration."

Brown said the endorsement by a number of Kentucky newspapers of former Louisville Mayor Harvey Sloane does not disturb him

"because I'm not running to please the newspapers." He estimated he would spend about $1.25 million in the primary, which he said probably is less than McBrayer will spend.

Brown indicated most of this would be his own money, but he would like to hold public fund-raisers if it were possible and would prefer much more public participation in financing elections.

To The Voters Of The City Of Murray

Once again I am asking your support in helping to elect me as one of your councilmen in this election on May 29, 1979. I hope you have noticed the change in our local election this year, by all candidates being in one ward. This was handed down by our Calloway County Circuit Court Judge James M. Lassiter. I regret that has happened just 15 days before the election, however this is a city-wide election and all city elected officials should work for the best interests of all citizens, regardless of where they live in this city. Often in the past this has not been done.

I believe in a fair and honest government, where all our citizens can receive an honest decision. I believe the two years I served on the council, I tried to make wise decisions.

I am asking your support in electing me as one of your councilmen, May 29. I thank you very much.

$3 Million Damages May Result From Hazard Fire

HAZARD, Ky. (AP) — Damages may total $3 million following a weekend fire which damaged or destroyed more than half a dozen buildings, including City Hall, in this east Kentucky city.

Mayor William Gorman Sr. said it would be business as usual today after city offices were moved a block down the street to a vacant building.

No one was injured in the early Saturday morning blaze, which authorities say apparently broke out in the rear of a bar and pool room on Main Street. By the time firefighters arrived, the flames had already reached a nearby jewelry store and a hardware store.

A call went out for firefighting help from surrounding communities, but while those units were en route, the fire swept into City Hall, which sits on a hill behind the buildings first hit.

It took firefighters from Hazard plus 60 from Whitesburg, Letcher County, Jackson and the Perry County community of Holmes more than three hours to bring the blaze under control.

Hazard Fire Chief Ray Merrill said the cause of the fire is still under investigation and arson has not been ruled out.

Merrill credited the use of a snorkel unit supplied by the Whitesburg firefighters with preventing a greater loss of property.

"I think the fire would have wiped out the entire city block without that snorkel," the fire chief said. "We put every ladder that we had, but they weren't doing us any good. The snorkel saved us."

Offices on the first floor of City Hall suffered extensive water and smoke damage, but Gorman said most current records were saved.

"The city of Hazard will continue as if this had never happened," the mayor said.

The police department above city offices was gutted by the blaze. Police Chief Don Brashear said many records and some radio equipment were salvaged. He said total fire damages to the business district were at least $3 million.

Shively Man Dies After Auto Accident

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — A 60-year-old Shively man died Sunday at St. Mary & Elizabeth Hospital after being involved in an automobile accident Friday.

Paul T. Foster Sr., police said, was driving when his car left the road and struck a utility pole.

The cause of death is pending the results of an autopsy, authorities said.

THE NEWS IN BRIEF

WASHINGTON

WASHINGTON (AP) — The rest of the nation may soon join the plight of California motorists and be forced to wait in long lines to obtain gasoline, predicts Sen. Henry Jackson, chairman of the Senate Energy Committee.

"I think it will spread," Jackson said as his panel prepared to grill officials of five major oil companies on the reasons for the current shortages and the prospects for easing them.

Executives of Shell, Chevron, Exxon, Texaco and Standard Oil Co. (Indiana) were testifying today in what Jackson called "a fact-finding effort."

It began a week in which the administration's energy policy faces key congressional tests. The biggest will come when House Democrats meet Tuesday to vote on a proposal designed to block the president's decision to lift price controls on U.S.-produced oil.

INTERNATIONAL

MANAGUA, Nicaragua (AP) — Guerrillas killed eight national guardsmen in Leon and battled troops block by block in Jinotega as Mexico broke relations with the government of President Anastasio Somoza, accusing it of "horrendous genocide."

There was no immediate comment on the break in relations, which took Nicaraguan government officials by surprise.

Hundreds have been killed in almost daily battles since an uprising by Sandinista guerrillas was crushed by Somoza's national guard in September, and on Saturday eight guardsmen were ambushed and killed by guerrillas in Leon, 60 miles north of Managua.

Stumping Toward May

While campaigning in Murray Saturday, Bill Cox, a strong contender in the race for Lt. Governor, said that he believes it is important that the Governor be accessible to the people of Kentucky. Cox favors continued support and research for the tobacco industry and would also like to encourage the development of alternative cash crops.

"Data is already available which indicates a potential realization of $90 million or more annually through the development of specialty crops," he said.

The former federal Highway Commissioner described Kentucky as an "ideal location for the development of a complete food processing, processing, and distributing industry. With its progressive inter- and intra-state highway systems, Kentucky is within a day's drive of 70 percent of the nation's population."

Cox pointed to the need for increased "clean" industrial and economic growth in Kentucky. Such increased activity would better enable the government to provide essential services to the people without getting deeper into their pockets.

Michael Tabers and Dr. Ben Humphreys have accepted leadership positions in the Carroll Hubbard for Governor campaign organization in Calloway County for the primary election on Tuesday, May 29.

Tabers, a sophomore at Murray High School, is serving as youth chairman, and Humphreys, chairman of the Department of Professional Studies at Murray State University, is serving as campus chairman.

Candidate Calls For Investigation

By BILL BERGSTROM Associated Press Writer LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) —

Jim Vernon, Democratic candidate for lieutenant governor, called again today for an investigation of alleged corruption in Kentucky government by a special Justice Department unit.

Vernon, at a news conference, hailed reports that the Justice Department has approved a special grand jury requested by U.S. Attorney Pat Molloy of Lexington to look into such allegations.

He has said that FBI agents told him investigations of state government could lead to indictments, and that Bill Cox, a Democratic opponent in the lieutenant governor's race, is one of those under investigation. Cox has filed a lawsuit against Vernon for making the allegation.

Vernon said "without question, the pressure that has been applied by candidates and the press" has led to approval of a grand jury to look into the corruption charges.

He also said, however, that with only eight days remaining before the primary election, he did not expect any results by then.

Vernon added, however, that "because of speculation concerning the delay in convening the grand jury and the vast amount of coverage given to the delay, the people of Kentucky would be best served by a respected outside unit to forward the proceedings."
